"No" Vote Needed on Airport Expansion Issue

a front-page editorial by Dave Atkins

As most of you know, I have never before taken a stand, or asked you to vote a certain way, on any election issue, nor have I endorsed any candidate in this paper in the last four years.

This, however, is one time that I intend to break away from my usual policy and ask you for your help, mainly for what I believe to be your own best interest.

Anyone who lives in or around the cities of Romulus, Wayne, Huron, Taylor, and Dearborn Heights is aware of the seemingly perpetual condition of County roads in our area — namely bad! The same thing is true of the County drains that are not, in my opinion, taken care of the way they should be.

Airport noise and/or the expansion of the Airport have nothing to do with County roads and drains, but I believe that we can see from the County's past actions, as a whole, just how much trust we can put in anything that they tell us.

If we look at the poor shape that the roads and drains in Wayne County are in, what would cause us to believe that the Airport won't be in the same condition in the next two decades?

In an editorial that appeared in the October 12, 1990 edition of The Detroit News, voters were urged to vote "yes" on the Metro Airport bonds. The News editors list all kinds of reasons why we should support the referendum, and I agree that a "yes" vote would probably be good for the City of Detroit and some of the northern suburbs. (If Metro is expanded, there would be less of a need for expansion at City Airport, thereby saving the northern suburbs from the outrageous noise, fuel-spillage, and traffic problems that those of us near Metro must face.)

Quite frankly, it would seem that Northwest Airlines and the County as a whole would be better served if the expansion took place at City Airport because of its close proximity to Downtown Detroit. Unless I am mistaken, Detroit's mayor, Coleman Young, would like nothing better.

The Detroit News said, "Airport officials have embarked on a long-range program to keep pace with the needs of a dynamic, fast-growing airline industry." What airline industry? Northwest Airlines?

25% more of these would fly over surrounding cities by the year 2000.

From all the information that I can gather (and I am sure it is not complete because I can't get certain people like Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara to return a call — his press secretary will, but that does me no good), it appears that the County is putting all its eggs into one basket with the Airport expansion, and that basket is Northwest. That is what appears to be happening on the surface.

The News article also said that Airport traffic is expected to increase by 25% by the year 2000. Just what cities surrounding the Airport need — more noise, more pollution, and more crime!

I am not against progress! What I am against is "progress" that is injurious to the health, welfare, and lifestyle of the everyday citizen.

No one will more readily admit that more business needs to be brought into the communities surrounding the Airport, especially Romulus and Huron Township, but is this the way to do it?

The News says, "Expansion is a major milestone in efforts to diversify Wayne County's economy." That may be true, but will all that expansion reduce our taxes? Will it improve our roads? Will it improve our lifestyles, or those of our children? Will it, in fact, improve the unemployment situation in the cities surrounding Metro? At this point in time, I must say that the answer is a resounding "NO!"

The News also says that an additional 22,000 jobs will be created by the expansion of the Airport. My question is this: What kind of jobs, and for whom? How many people in the surrounding communities will qualify for those jobs?

As the News stated, for the first time in history, an organization called CAAN (Citizens Against Aircraft Noise) has collected enough signatures to put this bond issue on the ballot and let the citizens decide what they would like to see happen.

In articles published in the News and the Detroit Free Press, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) said that they are reviewing their policy and have promised to get back with a report by December 1. Doesn't that seem just a little strange to you? Why are they waiting until a month after the election to get back with the people? Could it possibly be that they are dubious about the outcome of the election, and do not want to totally commit themselves as far as flight plans and noise problems are concerned?

Everyone wants to blame City Hall — especially the Romulus City Hall and Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally — for the noise problems. Sorry, but there is absolutely nothing that any mayor — McAnally or anyone else — can do concerning the noise and pollution at the Airport. It's all in the hands of the FAA and County Executive McNamara.

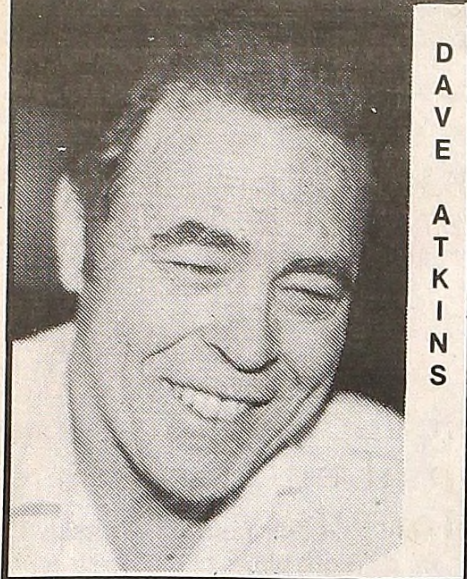

There are phone numbers you can call to complain about flight patterns and noise pollution. Guess where your call winds up? Either at the tower at Metro Airport, where no one can help you, or on an answering machine where you can leave a message, which is then put into a computer for later analysis. When I called that particular number and asked about what happens after the analysis, I could not get a reasonable answer and was told to call one of the bigwigs in Chicago (as if anyone in Chicago cares about the noise problem in Romulus).

While a CAAN representative sat in my office, almost in tears, I called several numbers — and got absolutely no reasonable response. I called Ed McNamara's office. Allegedly, he was not there. His press secretary called back while I was out. Sorry, but his press secretary can't answer the questions that need to be addressed; only McNamara can.

I am asking you to vote "no" on the bonding proposal for the Airport expansion and continue to vote "no" every time it comes up, if it ever does again, until the County and the FAA can give us all the facts, which they have failed to do at this point. (At least, they have failed to give us those facts that would cause us all to vote for an improvement.) Remember: If you do not vote "no," there are enough people outside the Airport area who will vote "yes" and get it passed.

If you decide that you don't want the Airport expansion to continue, get out and vote. The problems are not going to go away unless you do vote. This is one time that your vote really does count. □

Cable Service a Joke!

by Dave Atkins

Recently, I had an experience with the local cable company (Omnicom) that I thought (or had been told) would not happen after Barden Cable left this town and Omnicom bought it. I remember well the night that the Omnicom people came to City Council when Barden wanted to sell the company. Supposedly, if Council approved the sale, service would be much better than it had been under the Barden ownership. Promises were made — we were told how the best new state-of-the-art equipment would be installed, and that the number of "outages" would certainly decline after certain things were done to the existing system (such as rewiring, etc.). While I agree, to a point, that the picture quality has cleared to some extent, I still have not seen the alleged "better service" part (at least in my experience with Omnicom).

To give you an example: When I previously had cable, it seemed that something would go wrong every time I wanted to watch a Tiger game (I was paying extra for that service). Maybe I shouldn't say every time, but it sure seemed that way. The picture would go off and I would see a bright-white, snowy screen every time something interesting in the game was about to happen. (You know, bases loaded, bottom of the ninth, and Whitaker at bat with two outs. Strike one, strike two, and ... *%$#@ — the picture went out.) I cancelled my cable.

After a little over a year, I decided that, since the City Council meetings are now on cable, I would have cable installed again.

Politely, mind you, I called and ordered basic cable, the Disney Channel, and HBO.

"By the way, Mr. Atkins, the pay channels that you are requesting are now only $7 each." I almost ordered two more.

"We will see you tomorrow. Will someone be home all day?"

"They sure will," I said. Soooo, I made arrangements for my daughter to stay home all day so that the cable could be installed.

At around 10:15 a.m., my daughter went downstairs to put a load of clothes in the washing machine and take the dry ones out of the dryer.

Sure enough, I called and asked if the cable company had been there. Yep. They left a note on the door that they had been there, but no one was home, and I would have to make arrangements to have a man come back out again. That was around 11 a.m.

"@#$%!()," I said. I called the cable company back and told them what happened. I also said that there was to be a Council meeting on TV that night that I needed to see.

"Could you please send someone out today to hook up my cable? Knock hard this time; my daughter is doing my grandchildren's laundry."

"I'll see what I can do for you, Mr. Atkins. I'll call dispatch right now and see if we can't get someone there this afternoon."

Naturally, I had no reason to disbelieve this nice-voiced lady, so I worried no more. It would be done. I could watch the Council meeting tonight. No need for me to check on it again. Right? Wrong!

I bounced in the door and asked my daughter if the cable people had come back out to install this wonderful state-of-the-art cable system, and she said, "What cable company?"

"What do you mean, what cable company? The one that was here earlier today, darling third daughter."

After much gnashing of teeth, cussin', foot stompin', and telling my wife that she was a big dummy for having this kid, I went to bed and had bad dreams about being on City Council.

Politely, mind you, I called the cable company the first thing the next day and told them that my @#$%&*() cable had not been hooked up. When could I expect that to happen?

"Sorry, Mr. Atkins, it will take about 10 working days for us to place your order for installation now. We are just too busy and we can't fit you into our schedule."

"Do you mean you can't even take my order now?" I asked.

"That's right," she replied.

After I picked up the pieces of Ma Bell's eighth wonder of the world, I decided to wait to see what would happen when this illustrious cable company had the time to install my cable for me. (Does anyone know if we have a choice of another company?)

I called a day before they told me to and it was lucky that I did. If I had called when they told me to, I would have had to wait another 10 days. I am not joking! That's what they told me.

"I will be happy to take your order, Mr. Atkins. Will someone be home for 24 hours starting tomorrow at 8 a.m.?"

"You must be joking, I have a newspaper to put out. I can't have anyone home for 24 hours," I said.

"I'm sorry, sir, someone will have to be home for 24 hours," she said.

What could I say? "O.K."

At 11 a.m. the following day, my wife let the cable installer in only after she had cleaned up the house, where it appeared that World War III had happened because of my rage.

Luckily, she noticed the man's work order. He had listed HBO and Showtime. She asked him to please leave HBO on but to replace Showtime with Disney, according to my original request. He said that he would do it from the office.

Guess what? It took another call and one more week before I finally got the order straightened out.

I still haven't seen a Council meeting yet; last week was their week off. $%!%&*

See you next time. □

Questions and Answers

by Art McPharlin, Community Relations Director, Romulus Community Schools

Three weeks from today, on November 6, 1990, the citizens of Romulus will help decide their school district's future for well into the twenty-first century.

On election day, Romulus voters will be asked to approve three (3) separate propositions: a) to renew present operating funds for ten (10) additional years at no increase in the tax rate; b) to add and restructure all schools with modern state-of-the-art technology at no increase in the tax rate; and c) to build and equip a natatorium (pool) for student and community use at a cost of between $25 and $50 per household each year.

As the Board of Education and Administrators provide information and experiences for all citizens through school open houses, many legitimate and important questions are raised. Here are some of those questions and our answers to them.

Q. How can we restructure and add technology to all of our schools without raising taxes?

A. The debt fund to pay off the bonds would be extended seventeen (17) years (year 2001-2018) without increasing the tax rate. The tax base in the City has grown quickly and these new businesses share the cost of repayment of the bonds. For these reasons, your tax rate would not be increased.

Q. What is meant by computer-aided instruction?

A. Computer-aided instruction is the use of the power, program, and memory of a computer to deliver interactive instruction to each student in a classroom. The software provides individual instruction at the proper level of understanding for each student. It is our intention to have computers in every classroom to aid in student instruction and for teacher use. (For a hands-on demonstration, call your neighborhood school.)

Q. How long will all these changes take to complete?

A. The plan is to start new construction in the spring of 1991. Restructuring and new equipment will be phased into programs during school vacation or summer months. A target date for completion of the total project is the 1993-94 school year.

Q. Where will the natatorium (pool) be built?

A. The Board of Education voted, on September 24, 1990, to build the natatorium next to the High School on Wayne Road.

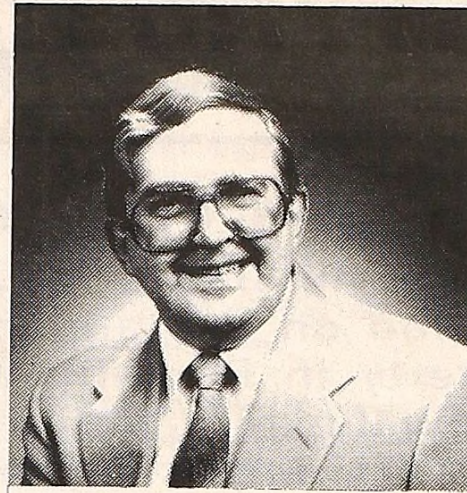

Q. Who will use the natatorium?

A. The natatorium will be used as a teaching classroom during the day. All Romulus citizens will be able to use the facility at other times when it is not used by students.

Q. What will be done with the heating system at the High School?

A. The heating system will be upgraded at the High School and all other schools. □

New Drunken-driving Laws Would Keep First Offenders Off Streets for 30 Days

submitted by James A. Kosteva, State Representative for the 37th District

Drunken drivers have killed or seriously injured thousands of people on Michigan roadways. The FBI calls drunk driving the number-one violent crime in the United States. Half of all fatal crashes in Michigan involve alcohol.

In an effort to make Michigan's drunken-driving laws even tougher, House lawmakers unanimously passed a package of legislation that calls for stiffer penalties and closes legal loopholes in the existing law.

Under the proposed legislation, first-time drunken-driving offenders would lose their license for 30 days without exception and without the possibility of getting a restricted license.

Police also would be able to confiscate licenses on the spot if the driver failed or refused to take a "Breathalyzer" test. The drivers would be given a 45-day temporary permit, which would compel them to show up for their court dates. The legislation would require the courts and Secretary of State to resolve most drunken-driving cases within 45 days.

The legislation also offers heavier penalties for second offenders. Persons convicted a second time could be sentenced to 48 hours of consecutive jail time or 10 days of community service. Individuals with open intoxicants in their vehicles would be guilty of a misdemeanor and receive two points on their driver license. "Hardship" appeals and restorations of suspended and revoked licenses by the courts would be totally eliminated.

Drunken drivers who are responsible for someone's death are now charged with vehicular negligent homicide, a two-year felony, or manslaughter, a 15-year felony, which is more difficult to prove. Under the legislation, a person could be charged with a 15-year felony specifically for drunken driving that resulted in a death.

Causing serious injury while driving drunk now usually results in a 90-day misdemeanor charge. Under the new measures, causing serious injury in an accident would result in a five-year felony charge.

This legislation would take drunken-drivers off the road swiftly and set harsher fines and penalties, which promise a real solution to a tragic, growing problem. □

TRAFFIC STOP

by Officer Rick Schwartz, Romulus Police Department

With winter rapidly approaching, it's time to start thinking about extra, added hazards motorists must contend with on the roadways. Not only do the snow, ice, sleet, cold, and salt play havoc with our cars, they make driving more dangerous. If you've driven in the winter before, start thinking back to how it differs from summer driving and how much more cautious you've had to be. For those of you who are going to experience your first winter of driving, or for you experienced drivers who need a refresher, please remember these simple rules:

- Slow down. Rain, snow, sleet, and ice increase your stopping distance dramatically.
- Fog, with or without the above elements, decreases visibility.
- Bridge overpasses are extremely slippery due to the cold blowing underneath them.

The law clearly states that you must have your vehicle under control at all times. This can be accomplished by adjusting your speed for road, traffic, and weather conditions. Always watch out for the other person who is not following these simple directions.

Q. I was involved in an accident and got a ticket for driving too fast for conditions. The speed limit was 45 mph and I was only doing 35 mph. Why did I get the ticket?

A. The law requires you to adjust your speed for traffic, road, and weather conditions. Let's say it's raining, and visibility is reduced and the road is slippery. The speed limit may be 45 mph, but to drive safely you might have to slow down to a crawl.

If you have any questions regarding traffic laws, safety, etc., write to: Officer Rick Schwartz, c/o the Romulus Police Department, 11165 Olive, Romulus, Michigan 48174. □

Erratum

In the October 3, 1990 issues of The Romulus News and The Wayne News, a mistake appeared in the article entitled "Carmichael To Challenge Kosteva in November" due to an ambiguity in the copy submitted to us. The last sentence of the first point under "List Your Top Five Goals" should have finished with the words "eliminate small business taxes" instead of "eliminate small businesses." We are sorry for any inconvenience or misunderstandings that this may have caused. □

by Sharron Russell
View Publication Managing Editor

For Felix Rogalle art is an imitation of life, a continuation of creating discoveries. Enconced in his Belleville condo Rogalle is surrounded by a myriad of his beautiful paintings. Muted as well as rainbows of bright colors emanate from his many works. Area residents and library visitors will be able to see the works of Rogalle on display. He will be the featured artist of the month for October at the Fred C. Fischer Library, in Belleville. A reception in his honor will be held at the library on October 5 from 7-9:00 p.m.

For Rogalle a 27-year practicing attorney in Romulus it marks a study in contrast. The combination of an artistic barrister is very unique.

"There aren't many lawyers that do any art at all.

Rogalle has been painting for 14 years and describes his emergence into the field as being "an inner urge and some encouragement from family."

I was an early "doodler he informs but feels his late blooming artistic skills came from a "maturity in him at having experienced life's struggles and pleasures.

"It's a certain sensitivity you have to have."

His painting subjects are now in a kind of "Nova Scotia- doing northern scenes," he says. Rogalle has done a lot of experimenting with figure drawing, landscapes and various mediums of water color and acrylics, of which he now solely works with. He has however, had no formal art training other than a week-end workshops he attends yearly under nationally prominent artists.

You need the workshops to tie in your thinking about painting, your basic skills and your emotions, he explained.

"It's how you feel about the whole thing."

Rogalle will have on display at his showing at the library approximately 25 pieces of his art works. He paints as often as possible between his busy legal practice, every week for several hours.

"I complete one or two hangable paintings a month," he said.

Rogalle aligns himself with the impressionist school of art marveling at the works of Monet, Van Gogh, and Gauguin.

Many of his art pieces are award winning works through his membership in the Dearborn Arts and Crafts Club and the Farmington Artists Club. Through various community art shows he has garnered 8 awards, with prizes ranging from honorable mention to "Best of Show."

"I'm very pleased with the amount of time I can spend on painting and being able to have something that is hangable on the wall. That's reward enough for me.

Adolescent Health Month

by Kathleen Conway, Program Director, Romulus Adolescent Health Center

Following the lead of Michigan Governor James Blanchard, Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally has declared October Adolescent Health Month in Romulus. In a resolution from the Mayor's office, McAnally stated that the "future of the city and the country lies in the hands of our youth as we approach the 21st century" and the City "joins with Governor Blanchard in recognizing the primary health care needs of the adolescents of this state."

Child Health Day has been celebrated on October 1 since 1928 under a joint resolution of Congress. In our nation's capital this week, a symposium to highlight and promote the issues surrounding the health of the Nation's children will focus on "Adolescent Health: Links to the Future."

Locally, the Romulus Adolescent Health Center has organized a number of events to focus attention on the health needs and concerns of our teens. The Center was open during the Senior High School Open House on October 10, and a performance by the Minor Crisis Teen Theatre Troupe was held on October 9. On October 23, the Center will be administering measles, mumps, and rubella (MMR) vaccines at the Junior High School. Students and staff are invited to an open house at the Center on Thursday, October 25, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

In addition to the above events, students in the School will begin working more closely with the Center this month. Plans are underway for drama students at the High School to script and produce an ad for the Center to be aired on the School's and the City's cable TV stations. The Center Medical Director, Dr. Natalia Tanner, will begin writing a monthly column for the High School paper, the Eagle Press. In addition, art students at the school are planning to do a mural on the walls of the Center. The Junior High School will also see the Minor Crisis Theatre Troupe and a column in that school's newspaper will feature teen health hints.

The Romulus Adolescent Health Center offers comprehensive medical and counseling services for Romulus residents ages 11 to 21, students and nonstudents. The Center is staffed by a physician, physician assistant, medical assistant, and substance-abuse-prevention counselor, all trained and experienced in working with adolescents. The Center is funded primarily through a grant from the Michigan Department of Public Health. Parental consent is required for any teen under age 18 to be seen at the Center.

For further information regarding the Center and Adolescent Health Month activities, call 941-1400. □

A person who is 70 or more years old may claim exemption from jury duty.

Costs are generally awarded to the prevailing party in a civil action. Although a litigant's expenses include attorney fees, the term costs do not ordinarily include attorney fees.

Generally, courts refuse to allow the recovery of attorney fees, unless the allowance of the fees is expressly authorized by statute or court rule.

The rationale of not permitting the recovery of attorney fees is the chilling effect it would have on a person's right of access to the courts.

If you have a legal question that you would like answered, you may send your question to my office and I will attempt to address it in a future issue. Questions should be mailed to: Murray A. Duncan, Jr., 10000 South Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174. □

Romulus School Sports

From the A.D.

by Fred Coleman, Romulus Schools Athletic Director

Last Friday, I had an experience that I just have to express some joy about. It was my fourth Homecoming since I have been Athletic Director, and I can honestly say that it was, no doubt, the best so far.

First, I think an expression of congratulations needs to be extended to Mrs. Hopewell and Mrs. Reed for their efforts in aiding the students in this year's activities.

Next, I would like to congratulate Stacie Brown and the student government for a job well done on this year's festivities, and especially to Angie Ripple for the way she conducted the Homecoming Activities Assembly.

Another part of this year's Homecoming that the seniors should take great pride in is the excellent selection of students to represent the Class of '91 on the Homecoming Court. The court consisted of a wide range of leadership, and all 10 members are fine examples of our student body and the senior class.

All of that said and done, I would like to look at what really stands out as the greatest part of the 1990-91 Homecoming celebration, and that is the tremendous attendance by the students and parents, the fact that not one incident took place that could have marred the activities and, most important, that the majority of the fans actually stayed after the crowning of the king and queen to watch our football team give their all in an effort to cap off the day with a victory.

Had it not been for Milan winning the football game and the weather turning our facility into a mud slide, this would have been a perfect weekend. I hope that all who were involved in the planning and executing of this celebration feel justifiably proud of their efforts. I am one who is not really fond of Homecoming, but I can honestly say that the 1990-91 edition was one of the best that I have experienced in many years.

In closing, I would like to apologize for the conditions under which we had to operate this year's game. Every effort was made by our maintenance department to make the field playable and the facility as neat and safe as possible. Those who attended the game probably see, now, why I am so excited about the upcoming bond vote that would allow us to redevelop the current athletic facilities. We honestly have one of the best playing surfaces in this area, and with just a few new items (bathrooms, locker rooms, and parking lots), we could have the best facility in this area.

Please take time to seek information concerning this issue and, by all means, please consider a vote for the future of the Romulus Community Schools and its future student athletes. □

Fall Sports Summaries

by Fred Coleman, Romulus Schools Athletic Director

RHS Golf

The Varsity Eagles finished their regular season on a rain-soaked Willow Metro Park course with virtually the same results that they've had all year.

Different individuals scored well on different days, but it seemed that the Eagles could not put four good scores together in a match all season.

Coach Bill Knight's squad finished fifth in the League. Considering the talent of this year's group, that finish was disappointing — the mostly senior team looked to be a strong contender for the championship. It just wasn't to be in '90, though, as that little ball just kept taking the wrong bounces all season.

Chris Vavro led the Eagles as the number-one player most of the season, with Ed Tank usually taking the number-two spot. Both had excellent showings in the League meet, with Chris shooting an 83 and Ed carding a score of 85. Ben Good, having his best year in '90, couldn't find the hole in the League meet, but hopes to combine with Chris and Ed to score well in the Regionals this week. All three of these young men are seniors, and will be lost to Coach Knight next season.

The future of the team is sophomore Brian Bartholomew, the number-four player. Brian shot a 93 in the League meet, but has been consistently in the 80s for most of the season. Helping Brian next year will be Tim Howell, Aaron Hammers, and possibly the most solid female golfer in Romulus history, Jennifer Trueman.

Congratulations on your season, Eagles, as your non-League record of 8-1 was impressive. Good luck in the Regionals.

RHS Cross Country

Rain and horrible weather have taken their toll on the Eagles' season, as practice time, meets, and individual performances have all been affected this year.

Coach Dan Henry and his young runners have endured a number of hardships, but, through it all, have managed a solid .500 season.

Sophomore Eric Newcomb is closing in on John Trump's 10-year record, but weather conditions have probably prevented him from making a serious run at it. Combining with Eric this season are a group of young runners whom Coach Henry is truly looking forward to working with this spring, as well as next season.

"This is the finest group of young men I have had the opportunity to work with and, although we lost the leadership of seniors Dennis Tessin and Todd Bennett (both four-year letter winners), we look to have the work ethic in this group that should develop our program into a winner in the next few years to come," said Henry.

Only three young ladies participated in the girls' program this season, and thus could not compete as a team, but Tearza Johnson, Angie Hollis, and Erin Fife will all return next year, and it is Coach Henry's goal to find some teammates for these girls before the 1991 season begins.

RHS Junior Varsity Football

New coaches Jim Zoltowski, Brian Tapp, and Dave Blair have put forth a tremendous effort this season with the junior varsity program, and the rewards of that effort are starting to show.

Currently holding a 2-3-1 record, the recent 15-0 win over Milan demonstrated the results that sheer hard work can produce.

"This was just a great team effort," stated Coach Zol. "These kids come to practice every day with the intent of getting better, and their determination has paid off the last two weeks with a 6-6 tie against Huron and the victory over Milan."

The young Eagles' season becomes even more impressive when you look at the number of freshmen and sophomores currently playing varsity football for Coach Dan Henry.

"This group is going to combine with the guys gaining valuable experience on this year's varsity team, and I foresee exciting football in the future for our fans," concluded Zoltowski.

Leading the way for this year's team are sophomores Mario Johnson and Chris Evans, both of whom have had excellent seasons thus far. Freshman Todd Hardrick has taken his size from the quarterback position to the middle of the defense, and has combined with Roger Bethune to virtually stop the opponents' ground game. (Milan had 30 total yards on offense.) Joel Elam has taken over at the QB position and is becoming more consistent each week at running the offense. Sophomore running back Felton Bush has scored one touchdown in each game that he has played since becoming eligible after his late enrollment this fall. Rob Graham, Gil Delise, Scott Shupp, and Ron Yount are handling most of the line play, while Jeff Blanton and Phillip Franklin are helping to solidify the defensive team.

The young Eagles travel to Ann Arbor Pioneer Thursday evening before concluding their season at home on October 25 against Belleville. Good luck in this last two, fellas.

RHS Varsity Football

Playing what was no doubt their finest game of the season, the varsity Eagles dropped a 25-13 loss to Milan in the Homecoming game last Friday.

Playing before an estimated 2,000 fans, the largest crowd of the season, the younger and smaller Eagles took their first possession and moved 55 yards for a 7-0 score. The drive featured three fine runs by senior tailback Eben Smith and was capped off by the sophomore passing combination of quarterback Bob Bergeron and split-end Rob Thompson. Milan took their next possession the length of the field, but, unlike Romulus' sophomore kicker John Devereaux, Milan failed in their extra-point attempt.

The Homecoming crowd was disappointed again before half time, however, as Milan broke into the lead, 13-7, before the second quarter ended.

The Big Reds (and I do mean Big!) scored again early in the third quarter, bringing their lead to 19-7, before Bob Bergeron led his troops back down the field to close the gap to 19-13. A late touchdown by Milan gave them the 12-point victory, but not to the displeasure of the coaching staff.

"These kids are showing more talent each week against bigger and stronger teams, and they are not showing any signs of quitting. They battle right back to the end of the games, and that is all we can ask. I guarantee that this group is going to hit the weights and the books after this season and do all the little things needed to turn this program around. The coaches and players have made a commitment to the off season to improve our strength and size. We plan to develop the excellent talent we have to work with currently, as well as seek some of the hidden talent walking the halls."

The group that suffers the most in a season like this is the seniors, and this year's class is giving it all in a pretty dismal situation. Eben Smith had another outstanding effort and Rich Evans played his best game of the year against Milan. Steve Hockett and Joe Adkinson have quietly done their jobs on both offense and defense against what sometimes appeared to be impossible odds. DJ Jamerson and Lamont Kennedy have had moments of glory this season, also, with DJ leading the team in defensive tackles on two separate occasions from the middle-linebacker position.

"Our seniors are hurting because no athlete can deal with a zero-win season," added Henry, "but what they are showing their young teammates is the strength needed to develop into a winner, and that will definitely pay off for our program in the near future."

It is easy to win and even easier to quit, but it is very tough to hang in, week after week, listening to your peers and fair-weather fans telling you what you are doing wrong.

This group is not only hanging in there, it's fighting each week to improve, and what is being developed is the character needed to be successful both on and off the field.

Keep your heads up, guys! Many people in this town, including myself, are extremely proud of your efforts, and, believe me, this year is going to pay off for all concerned.

RHS Women's Basketball

A double victory over Ypsilanti on Thursday capped off what has been a very successful two weeks for our basketball program.

Romulus Historical Society Seeks Donations for Cases

submitted by Pearl Varner, President, Romulus Historical Society

The Romulus Historical Society is currently promoting a project to help furnish the Romulus Historical Museum with wall-hung display cases. They are seeking donors who would like to contribute $550 towards the cost of a case. Consequently, the donor's name would be placed on a name plate and mounted on the display case.

So far, five separate contributions have been received from: the Romulus Kiwanis, the Romulus Historical Society, Pearl M. Morris, Wilbur Koester, and Frederick and Helen Hay. The Society still needs three more cases to fill the wall spaces in the museum. If you or someone you know might be interested in donating, please call 697-9628 or 941-0728.

The museum restoration is coming along nicely. The bathroom is finished, but still to be completed are the finish trim, door hangings, and final flooring. The donor plaque committee is meeting with a sales representative this month. Final selection of the plaque will be done in the near future. Anyone wishing to have his/her name on this plaque must contribute soon. A contribution of $500 or more puts a contributor's name on the plaque. It will be placed inside, near the entrance to the museum.

During the last four years, the City of Romulus, the Historical Commission, and the Historical Society have been working jointly on this worthwhile project, and we have had the pleasure of seeing the museum taking form. With the support of the community, we have been able to come this far. We are counting on the community to continue to support this project until its completion. We need your help. Please call us if you would like to contribute. □

The JV team, led by sophomore forward Petrina Sewell and freshman guard Lakeisha Holmes, has improved its record to 5-7. The one-point victory over Ypsilanti demonstrated how far first-year coach Tempie Brown has brought this team.

"We are getting better each week, both on offense and defense, and these girls are working very hard to develop the skills they will need to fill the vacancies on the varsity after graduation takes all but two of the team," said Coach Brown.

Tempie was recently named Assistant Coach at Concordia College, and has been a pleasant addition to Coach Tim Cullen's staff. Her efforts on this level will hopefully continue to add to the success of our program.

The 1990-91 team suffered a minor setback in recent weeks with the injury to leading-scorer Carmita Brown, who is sidelined with an ankle injury. Her return date is currently unknown.

When you lose your leading scorer, someone has got to rise to the top to fill in the gap, and, in a recent victory over Ypsilanti, Kim Hopewell did just that. Usually known as a very intense defensive player, Kim turned on the offensive burners that evening, and combined with Sue Molenda to score 33 of the team's 42 points in the victory.

"Sue is, no doubt, our steadiest player," stated Coach Cullen, "but you cannot win in this sport with just one person. It takes a team effort. When Sue has a bad game, we tend to have problems, but we are finding out that we can't sit back and wait for Sue and Carmita to do it all. Carmita's injury may be just what we needed to give Kim and Angi Hopewell the lift in confidence on offense. Combine this with Kim and Jennifer Daniel's hounding defense and Carmita's return soon, and we could be in for a very interesting season."

After a well-deserved break in their season, the Eagles return to face Adrian at home at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday. Although they're carrying a 7-5 record at this time, the Eagles realize that they have a lot of work to do before hosting the State Districts on November 12, 14, and 16.

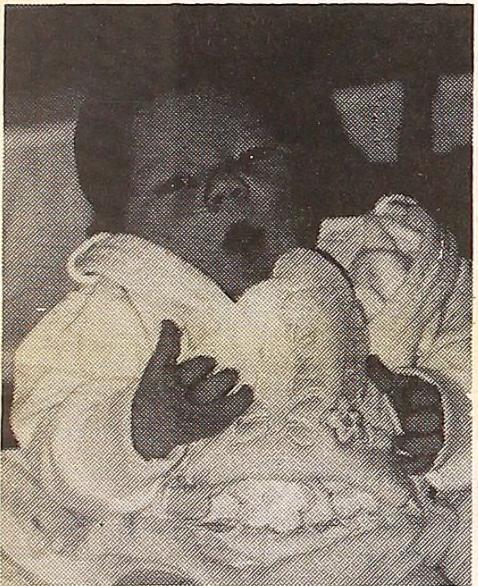

This team is playing very well. Let's get out and support the girls at their game against Adrian on October 18. □

Legislation Helps Adult Foster-care Placement

State lawmakers have approved a bill that would allow placement of disabled adults in a children's licensed foster-care home, to be decided on a case-by-case basis. It is often difficult to find placement for adults with extreme mental and physical disabilities. Under the new legislation, handicapped adults and children could be placed in the same facility in these instances.

Bill Creates Open Supply for Gasoline Retailers

Legislation that would create an "open supply" policy for retail gasoline dealers has been approved by the House. Currently all service station franchisees are required to purchase their gasoline from a designated regional supplier. Under this legislation, franchisees could buy gasoline from the supplier of their brand of gasoline who offers the lowest price.

Legislation Promotes Composting

In an effort to reduce the amount of waste going into landfills and to protect the State's air quality, Michigan lawmakers have approved two bills that would encourage people and communities to start composting programs. Recent studies in Michigan found about 15% of our landfill space is taken up by yard wastes, such as grass clippings, leaves, and small branches. Under the legislation, hauling yard waste to a landfill will be prohibited and open burning will be banned unless specifically allowed by local law.

Legislation Streamlines Regulation of Health-care Professionals

The House has passed a package of bills that would streamline the licensure and discipline systems for the more than 200,000 licensed health care professionals in Michigan. The package of bills is in answer to numerous complaints that the current procedures are cumbersome and ineffective.

Legislation Toughens Drunken-driving Penalties

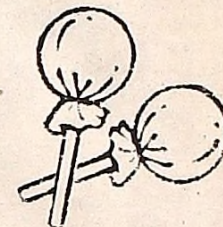

In an effort to make Michigan's drunken-driving laws even tougher, House lawmakers unanimously passed a package of legislation that calls for stiffer penalties and would close legal loopholes in the existing law. Among the provisions — first-time drunken-driving offenders would lose their license for 30 days without exception and without the possibility of getting a restricted license.

HOMEcoming ... Though the Eagles lost to Milan in a valiant effort, this year's Homecoming was still a big success. Highlights of the event included victories for the Senior Class in the Spirit Jug competition and the Junior Class in the Float competition, and selection of the Homecoming Court: Yolanda Rupert (Queen), Melissa Avery, Jennifer Daniel, Michele Scarrow, Angie Slawinski, Eben Smith (King), Rich Evans, Raymond Good, Ricky Rogala, and Ed Tank.

"Vote for the future" float was great.

Even Grandpa enjoyed the rain-soaked parade.

Great-looking couple ... Do they know each other?

And the kids of the future will do well.

cerns of Small Businesses, a Committee to study the structure of the Department of Natural Resources, and a special committee to study the needs of the homeless. Kosteva was also a member of an Ad Hoc Special Committee on Property Tax/School Finance, an 18-member committee to evaluate both the property tax system and education finance. Currently, he serves the House of Representatives as a Majority Whip, and is a board member of the State Library.

In response to my questions about his priorities and qualifications for the job of Representative, Kosteva passed along the following information.

Five Top Goals

- Cut Michigan property tax and eliminate tax abatements unless a company clearly demonstrates that it is bringing new jobs to Michigan.
- Support the educational reforms which I co-sponsored last year. These include: development of a modern core curriculum, an annual report of school improvements, and the testing of students to insure that they have obtained basic "employability" skills.
- Remain vigilant about State spending by exploring ways to combine duplicative programs and eliminate incentives that create government dependents.
- Strive to provide basic health-care services to all, especially children. Dollars spent for check-ups and preventative health care save thousands spent in acute emergency care later.

- Protect Michigan's environment by seeking the balance between preservation and resource consumption. The people in this state made their investment by supporting the $800 million Environmental Bond in 1988. Elected leaders must now follow through with efforts to reduce our wastes, make polluters pay, encourage recycling, and maintain our high-quality fish, game, and recreational areas.

Why I Am Qualified To Seek Election

With the support of the people in the 37th District, I have proven that I can get things done. In nearly six years, my office has helped over 3,000 residents who called or wrote for assistance. I have sponsored or co-sponsored dozens of Michigan laws that have increased educational accountability and quality, penalized polluters, assisted our fight against crime, encouraged recycling, and made driving safer in Michigan. Finally, with the help of local officials, I have assisted in securing over $2,000,000 in State grants for our libraries, historic preservation, and recreational development efforts, to name just a few.

I know when to listen, when to lead, and for whom I work. □

ROMULUS BOARD OF EDUCATION

An Apple a Day

thanks to Julie Wells for passing along the following information from Weight Watchers October has been named "Apple Month" by the International Apple Institute, and what better time to cook up some fabulous apple recipes?

"Apples are a healthy, delicious part of a well-balanced food plan," said Florine Mark, area director of Weight Watchers. "They are a particularly good choice for those concerned about their waistline because the fiber in apples promotes a full, satisfied feeling after eating. They are also great for a quick pick-me-up between meals!"

Gingered Onion-Apple Soup and Ozark Apple Pudding are just two of the tempting apple recipes found in the Weight Watchers Meals in Minutes Cookbook. Both recipes can be prepared in less than 30 minutes.

With over 300 varieties of apples — from tart to sweet, green to red — there are so many to choose from that you can munch your way through "Apple Month" and never get bored!

Weight Watchers offers the following tips for using apples during the fall season, when they are in such plentiful supply:

- Weighing in at a slim 81 calories (average-sized apple), the apple is a delicious low-calorie snack!
- Slice apples into salads, adding both crunch and fiber. Varieties that have a snappy crunch and color include Cortland, Red Delicious, and Granny Smith.
- Slice the top off an apple and scoop out the core from its center. Fill it with a favorite — such as yogurt, cottage cheese, or chicken salad. Put the top of the apple back on and you have an interesting new lunch!
- An apple in your purse or briefcase in the morning is the perfect portable high fiber/low cholesterol snack and a super energy booster!

OZARK APPLE PUDDING

(Granny Smith or Golden Delicious apples are the perfect choice for this yummy pudding.)

- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 1/4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
- Dash salt
- 1 egg
- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1/2 pound apples, cored, pared, and chopped
- 1 ounce chopped pecans

Preheat oven to 350°F. On sheet of wax paper or a paper plate, sift together flour, baking powder, and salt; set aside.

Using electric mixer on high speed, in small mixing bowl, beat together egg and sugar until mixture is thick and lemon colored; beat in vanilla. Add flour mixture and, using mixer on low speed, beat until thoroughly combined, about 1 minute. Stir in apples and pecans.

Spray 8-inch pie plate with nonstick cooking spray; spread apple mixture evenly in pie plate and bake for 20 to 25 minutes (until a toothpick, inserted in center, comes out clean). Let cool for 5 minutes.

- 2 teaspoons margarine
- 1 cup diced onions
- 1/2 teaspoon grated pared gingerroot
- 1 packet instant chicken broth and seasoning mix
- 1 teaspoon all-purpose flour
- 1 1/4 cups water
- 1 tablespoon each apple brandy (calvados) and chopped chives
- 4 trimmed chives

Cut 6 thin apple slices and reserve for garnish; pare and dice remaining apples. In small saucepan, melt margarine; add diced apples, onions, and gingerroot, and sauté, stirring constantly, over medium-high heat until onions are translucent, about 2 minutes. Sprinkle broth mix and flour over apple mixture and stir quickly to combine; cook, stirring constantly, for 1 minute. Add water and cook over high heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil. Reduce heat to low and stir in brandy; partially cover and let simmer until flavors blend, 6 to 7 minutes. Pour soup into 2 soup bowls; top each portion with 3 reserved apple slices and 2 chives.

HALLOWEEN

by Bob Sheldon

*I went for a walk the other night;
The air was cool and still.
Each shadow that came across my way
Seemed to cast an eerie chill.*

*"I don't believe in ghosts," I said.
"They are only in your mind."
What's that? I'm sure I heard someone Following from behind.*

*I step a little faster now,
Just to make up for lost time.
Don't think I'm scared or nervous;
I'm certainly not that kind.*

*Why, nothing gives me the jitters!
Could that knocking be my knees?
I'm sure there's someone standing
Over there behind those trees.*

*Just a little faster now,
I'm almost to a run,
But don't you think I'm worried,
No. I just do this for fun.*

"Don't panic," I just tell myself.

*"Your wits are sharp and keen.
Nights always seem more scary
When it's close to Halloween."*
